

Facebook group: “East Reading Horticultural Society”

This Facebook group is available to members and their immediate family to post notices they think would be of interest or useful to other members.

To join, you need to find the group in Facebook and request to join. You will be asked to:

- supply your membership card number AND
- email that number and your name to erhs@hotmail.co.uk.

The reason for this is that many people use a pseudonym in Facebook, so we can't always check they are members without knowing their actual name. Sometimes it is obvious but, please, send that email anyway. While we try to check for membership requests daily, this is not always the case, so please be patient. If you're worried we haven't got the request, you can always send another email to ask about progress. If you are not on our email list, we have to check against the database of current members, which might cause a day's delay.

We haven't set any rules as to how members may use the group and it will be interesting to see what happens as the membership grows. Only one request: please use it responsibly.
